Jeff Park zoning open for comment

Jefferson Park is one of the first neighborhoods to be issued the city's proposed draft zoning changes. While the vast majority of the plan is similar to past zoning for the area, please take this opportunity to review how the status of your property or properties in your area may have changed. Remember these changes affect not only the value of your property but also the potential developmental directions that your neighborhood can go down. Further, please remember that the opportunity to make your voice heard remains, and that this is your opportunity for public comment. Jefferson Park United Neighbors has not taken a position on the zoning changes but is interested in hearing your opinions. Please feel free to visit: http://www.newcodedenver.org/rezoning/page/the-draft-code-and-draft-map in order to view the zoning codes in more detail

JEFFERSON PARK POTLUCK

Every year millions of people hit the street in the US and Canada to take part in National Night Out. Last year over 35 million people came out as a proclamation that the night is for families and loved ones, and not for violence or criminal activity. Aug. 4th, 2009 that record number is expected to burst at the seams.

This year the Jefferson Park Neighborhood, in conjunction with the Denver police department, is once again taking part in a nationwide commitment to claim the night for positive community growth and family fun. In addition to asking neighbors to make sure your energy efficient porch lights are on, JPUN has organized a potluck to celebrate our victories in the constant battle to keep our streets safe for evening strolls and front porch conversations that last long into the night.

The event is scheduled to coincide with JPUN's general membership meeting in order to provide a fun and informational venue in which to showcase the tremendous progress we have been making toward nighttime safety. Please feel free to bring a dish, dessert, salad, beverage to the Jefferson park at 6 PM August 4th to take back the night.
