Turns Out That Outdoor Fireplaces Are Illegal In Denver

Reprinted with permission of Westword.com

While some of those neighbors might be motivated by nothing more than spite, many have serious health concerns. According to Familiesforcleanair.org, wood-smoke pollution is even more hazardous than secondhand smoke from cigarettes, aggravating asthma and causing cancer; the site urges people to alert their local representatives to the dangers of outdoor fireplaces.

And when the Denver Fire Department gets a call, it has to answer. "There's a great tendency to neglect those kinds of things," Champagne points out, adding that on windy days, like the ones that Denver has recently experienced, fires can quickly get out of hand. "It seems harsh, but you never know." Still, the firefighters who answer the call try to deal gently with homeowners, issuing a warning not to light a fire again unless they get a special permit signed by both the fire department and the Denver Department of Environmental Health. Only a handful have ever bothered to apply for those, Champagne says. And if the fire department gets called to an address a second time, a homeowner who gets hot under the collar could face a $999 fine or six months in jail. The Platt Parkers don't know who turned them in, or why. "It seems like a silly use of the department's resources," says the man of the house. "Would it be legal if I burned pot?" He's not testing that theory — but he's found another way to get revenge on the nosy neighbors. He's bought a smoker, which is definitely legal in Denver, and fires it up several times a week, filling the neighborhood with the scent of roasting meat.

He can only hope the snitches are vegetarians.

Music at 2914 Coffee Friday May 25th at 4:00 p.m.

Singer-song writers Elizabeth Davis and Jane Thatcher will share their vocal talents. This free event is sponsored by Anthony and Melissa Davis. Meet your hosts on page 7.

Jefferson Park Pet of the Month

Name: Smalls • Breed: Tabby • Owner: Shane and Andrew

Smalls is a 7-year-old orange Tabby who moved to North Jefferson Park a year ago. Smalls isn't actually small at all. Smalls weighs 22 pounds! Smalls lounges the day away dreaming of bugs and playing with his sister, Blair. He is a total big brother who watches over her and protects her. They play together, eat together, and you can always find them cuddling in the sunshine. Smalls loves BBQ potato chips, Life cereal, popcorn and dieting. If you see Smalls out and about in the neighborhood, please catch him. He's probably not supposed to be there.

Would you like to see your pet featured? Please send a photo and a few tidbits about your favorite pet to Cristin at ckcouzens@gmail.com or drop it in her mailbox at 2819 W. 25th St.

Or maybe, Jerry the "pet whisperer" will catch you in the park!

Tips from Family Star Montessori School:
Mental Health Corner: Easing the Morning Transition

By Lauren Ross, Mental Health Consultant

Dropping off your child at school in the morning can sometimes be a hectic and stressful affair. Separation anxiety begins to emerge for young children around 8 months of age, and this natural developmental phase may contribute to your child's difficulty with morning goodbyes. Here are some ideas to help make this a smoother transition for you and your child:

- The separation starts at home: Think about how your morning typically goes at home. If you're like most families with young children, getting out of the house on time is often a rushed and stressful process. What are some ways to make it a bit less stressful? Some families find that preparing the night before can make the morning run much smoother. In the morning, wake up early enough to avoid rushing. Talk about your day with your child and be positive and upbeat about all the things to look forward to in your day.
- Create a goodbye ritual/routine: Children thrive on predictability and routine. Having a special ritual for morning drop-off can help make this a smoother and happier process for your child AND for you! Routines don't need to be elaborate: just think of a few steps that are meaningful to your child and remain consistent. It's also important to NOT sneak out of the classroom. Be sure to say a real goodbye to your child.
- Be aware and sensitive to the Montessori environment: As you enter the classroom, children who have already arrived are busy at work: babies are focused on the mobile, a toddler is working with a puzzle, and the older child is concentrating on stacking blocks. Help your child transition quietly into the classroom – you can help prepare as you're walking in the front door of Family Star, by speaking in a soft voice to your child and starting the goodbye process. "Mommy will be back to get you after school. You're going to have a wonderful day! Now let's go get our classroom slippers on."
- Read books about saying goodbye.

Consejos de la Escuela Family Star Montessori:
Consejos para la salud mental:
Facilitando la transición por las mañanas

By Lauren Ross, Mental Health Consultant

Dejar a su niño en la escuela por las mañanas a veces puede ser un evento desorganizado y estresante. La ansiedad por la separación empieza a surgir en los niños pequeños aproximadamente durante el octavo mes de edad, y esta etapa de desarrollo normal puede contribuir a que a su niño le sea difícil despedirse de usted por la mañana. Aquí le ofrecemos algunas ideas para hacer que la transición sea más fácil para usted y su niño:

- La separación empieza en casa: Piense en cómo son sus mañanas en casa. Si su familia es como la mayoría de las familias con niños pequeños, salir de la casa a tiempo usualmente es un proceso apresurado y estresante. Que puede hacer para que el proceso sea menos estresante? Algunas familias se han dado cuenta que prepararse la noche anterior puede hacer que la mañana se desarrolle con más calma. Despiértese temprano para evitar apresurarse. Hable con su niño sobre lo que el día les depara y mantenga una actitud positiva y de buen humor sobre lo que sucederá durante el día.
- Invente una rutina/ritual para despedirse: A los niños le encanta la predictibilidad y rutina. Tener un ritual especial para emplear durante la despedida de la mañana puede ayudar a hacer de esto un proceso más calmado y feliz para su niño Y para usted. Las rutinas no tiene que ser complicadas: solo piense en un par de pasos que tengan un significado profundo para usted y su niño y mantenga la rutina. También es importante NO salirse del salón a escondidas. Asegúrese de despedirse antes de salir.
- Ponga atención y respeto al ambiente Montessori: Al entrar al salón, los niños que ya han llegado estarán ocupados trabajando. Los bebés están enfocados en los móviles, un niño pequeño está tratando de armar un rompecabezas, un niño más grande se concentra en poner un bloque sobre otro. Ayude a su niño para que haga la transición calladamente en el salón – usted puede ayudarlo a prepararse mientras camina hacia la entrada de Family Star al hablarle en voz baja a su niño y empezar el proceso de despedida. "Mama regresara a buscarte cuando termine la escuela. Vas a tener un lindo día. Vamos al salón ahora para que te cambies los zapatos y te pongas tus pantuflas".
- Léale libros sobre despedidas.

How To Make Raising Kids Fun Instead Of Frantic

Do your kids argue, complain and talk back?

Have you experienced the power struggles over daily activities like getting ready in the morning, brushing teeth or cleaning up toys? If you have, you are just like the rest of us.

Parenting is probably the toughest thing any of us will ever experience. If you are struggling with your kids, you are not alone.

The parenting seminar will be held on Tuesday May 15th from 7-9 p.m. at Riverside Church here in Jefferson Park, located conveniently at the I-25 and 23rd Ave.

The cost is $20 for individuals and $30 for couples, and free childcare is provided!

Ground Rules

As Jefferson Park Day, our annual clean-up approaches, here are some reminders about common code violations from www.denver.gov.

Violations can be reported by calling 311 or visiting the city website.

Outdoor Storage Materials intended for outdoor use on a residential property such as a picnic table are permitted to be stored outdoors. Children's toys and bicycles are allowed to be kept outdoors. Materials intended for indoor use such as household appliances and upholstered furniture may not be stored outside. Tools, equipment and supplies utilized for automobile repair or construction may not be permitted to be stored outside an enclosed structure.

Uncut Lawns Unattended vegetation includes lawns exceeding 6 inches in height.

Vacant Buildings Vacant buildings are not unlawful. However, such structures must be secure from unauthorized entry, and grounds need to be maintained.

Parking On Unpaved Surfaces Parking on unpaved areas is prohibited. Allowable parking at single unit dwellings is on roadbase material, concrete or asphalt.

Alleys Occupants and/or owners are responsible for cleaning and maintaining the area from the rear of the property line to the center of the alley. (Cutting weeds, disposing of trash, etc.)

For more information or to volunteer, go to www.BetterBlockJP.org
or contact Brooke at 303-667-1710

Mark your calendars! On Saturday, June 23rd (10am-8p), Jefferson Park's business district will come alive with an interactive display of the area's fantastic potential and the community is invited to come enjoy! For just one day, have lunch at the corner restaurant, or buy a piece of art from the artisan's gallery while your kids make art of their own. Bring your bikes for a simple tune-up at the bike shop, or join in a mini-yoga class. Do you have friends who have been thinking about buying in Jefferson Park? Bring them along to talk to local real estate experts and let them learn about the area from local non-profit organizations at the information center. Or simply come people-watch and listen to music.

While this event will be tons of fun, it's focus is to spark the district's untapped potential. When our June newsletter hits your doorsteps, the work to transform the business district at 25th & Eliot will already be underway. Watch for landscaping clean-up and installation, painting of store fronts, and a design to be painted in the intersection. Everyone is welcome to come watch the final stages of transformation on Friday, June 22nd. The transformation and the event will be filmed and shared with other neighborhoods throughout the city and nation alike.

Cinco de Mayo May 5th

Cinco de Mayo (Spanish for "fifth of May") is a celebration held on May 5. It is celebrated nationwide in the United States and regionally in Mexico, primarily in the state of Puebla, where the holiday is called El Día de la Batalla de Puebla (English: The Day of the Battle of Puebla). The date is observed in the United States as a celebration of Mexican heritage and pride. In the state of Puebla, the date is observed to commemorate the Mexican army's unlikely victory over French forces at the Battle of Puebla on May 5, 1862, under the leadership of General Ignacio Zaragoza Seguín. Contrary to widespread popular belief, Cinco de Mayo is not Mexico's Independence Day—the most important national patriotic holiday in Mexico—which is actually celebrated on September 16. ## 2914 Coffee New Meetup Place for Jefferson Park Residents

By Jerry Olson

In 6 short weeks 2914 Coffee has blossomed into Jefferson Park's community cross roads. When you go for coffee and a scone, you're likely to meet your neighbor and then strike up a friendship with someone new to Jefferson Park. Relax, sit back and enjoy your latte while you cruise the Internet over WiFi.

Anthony and Melissa Davis are your hosts and take pride in providing a quality cafe menu. Anthony honed his barista skills in one of Colorado's finest coffee houses, now he's giving you a wide choice of Kaladi Brothers espresso based drinks in Jefferson Park. If you would like something a bit lighter, try a spot of tea, chai or an Italian soda.

The adults & kids will enjoy a scoop of Little Man Ice Cream. Pastries include raspberry scones, muffins, banana nut bread and for breakfast or lunch you have a healthy choice of artisan sandwiches.

Look closely at the paintings on the wall. Anthony is not only the skilled barista, he's the artist. You'll see a strong resemblance between the beautiful young women in the paintings to Melissa. Do you suppose...? Anthony's work is inspired by graphic design, graffiti art and portraiture. Enjoy the gallery too.

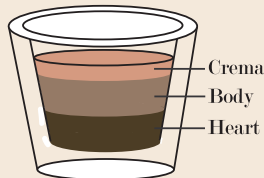

Anthony and Melissa continually explore how to respond to the interests of the neighborhood. Music is a natural, so mark your calendars for Friday May 25th when singer-song writers Elizabeth Davis and Jane Thatcher will share their talents beginning at 4:00 p.m. Invite your friends and neighbors.

Bike Safety and Awareness

With summer fast approaching now may be a good time to brush up on bike safety and awareness tips. The following tips are provided through the Denver Police Department web site.

Bike Registration & Theft Tips

Always lock up your bicycles if they're kept outside or in a garage. Otherwise, keep them inside the house. You should also take time to register your bicycles at www.denvergov.org/BikeRegistration.asp. This is a great tool that aids officers in the recovery of a stolen bikes and aids helps ensure the bicycle is returned to its rightful owner. You may also register your bike at any police station or COP Shop. For more information on bike registration, bicycle auctions, and recovered bikes, contact:

Bicycle Recovery Unit Detective Lance Rushton 303-295-4390
Lance.Rushton@denvergov.org

Basic Rules for Bike Safety

There are some basic rules for bike safety. Obey signs and signals, communicate, be visible, and be alert! Also, wear a helmet!

Obey Traffic Signals and Signs

As a vehicle, bicycles must obey all the Rules of the Road. Cyclists have the same privileges and duties as other traffic. Not obeying signs and signals can put you in danger.

Communicate

Signal all turns and stops ahead of time, check over your shoulder, then make your intended move only when it is safe to do so.

Be Visible

Outfit your bicycle with a headlight, rear light, and reflectors.

Be Alert

Watch for cars and establish eye contact with motorists to confirm that you are seen. Many motorists underestimate the speed of bicyclists, or don't see them at all, both of which can result in accidents... Do your best to see and be seen!

Wear a Helmet

While it is not required by law, it is recommended that you always wear a helmet. Protect your head; it's an important part of the body.

COMMAND CHANGE IN DISTRICT 1

by Tom Blyth

Denver's new police chief, Robert White, has made some changes to the command structure of the department at the beginning of April that had an affect on our District. Commander Doug Stephens has been assigned to the Gang Bureau and Lieutenant Paul Pazen has been given the command of District 1. This change recognizes the outstanding contributions and unique skills of both of these fine officers.

Commander Stephens led District 1 for five years and through his leadership the district experienced a decrease in crime each of those years. These positive results were unparalleled by any other district during the same period. Commander Stephens leaves the District as he has served it over the years, with a 10% decrease in crime for the year.

Lieutenant Pazen, now Commander Pazen, is a 17 year veteran of the Denver Police Department and a proud product of North Denver, North High School, and Jefferson Park. He has already put his extensive knowledge of the community and the department to use in his selection of his command staff for the District. He is committed to continuing the excellence in police work that has been the hallmark of District 1.

CAUTION: Officer at Play

The Following Story Caught Our Eye On Facebook.

District One SCAT Officer Bloom was attending to his responsibilities that include crime prevention efforts and community interaction when he came across a woman practicing baseball with her son in the field located at W. 19 and N. Julian St... Officer Bloom introduced himself and shared his love of the sport. He and the mother discovered they both played college level ball in schools located in Minnesota in close proximity to each other.

Officer Bloom gave the visibly tired mother a break from hitting balls to her son. It was hot. He took the bat and began hitting fly balls to her son while in full uniform, and offered encouragement while offering valuable suggestions to him.

If you would like to keep up to date on the police activity in District 1 just "like" Denver Police District One on Facebook.
